Our Story

Our origins began at our sister company, ASC Process Systems, where founder Dave Mason launched the first-of-its-kind software solution for control and automation for autoclave and oven control.

In 2000, Dave began building a database system for ASC, which grew into such a powerful ERP/MRP system that companies like Boeing, Lockheed and others urged ASC to make it available for sale.

In 2021, Dave Mason (CEO) and Raffi DerKhorenian (COO) founded Appward to make that a reality.

Business has a lot of moving parts

Software has not brought them together

Businesses have had to choose between:

- Tracking information across hundreds of spreadsheets
- A hodgepodge of disconnected software applications
- All-in-one solutions that require costly and time-consuming implementation development to work for the business
- Home grown solutions involving expensive development and lack-luster results

Get Your Apps Together

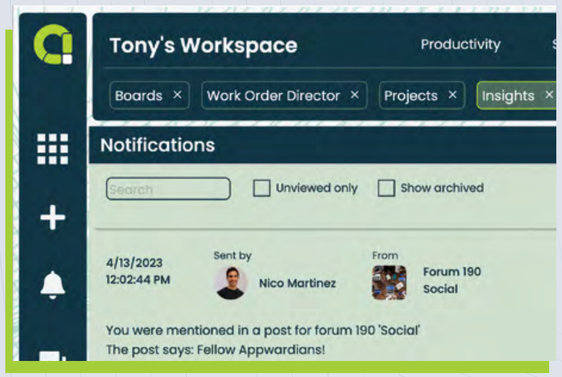
- A unified suite of powerful apps that are full featured and connected to each other—right out of the box
- Self serve implementation for quick and easy onboarding
- Rapid app development environment enabling execution in 1/20 the time of typical development

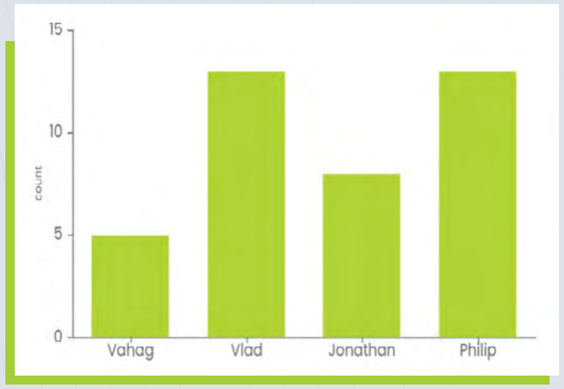
Your business is special

Why settle for software made for the ordinary?

Collaborate at the speed of now

- Send direct messages and participate in Forums
- Collaborate in context with Posts connected to specific records



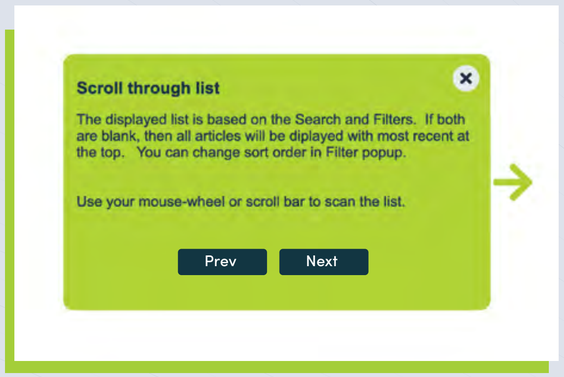


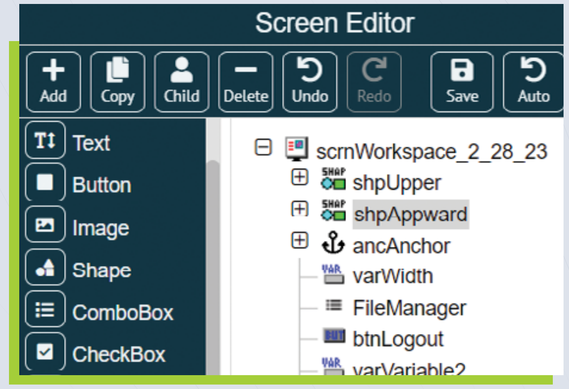
Everyone in lockstep

- Monitor metrics, data, and other analytics across apps with Insights
- Associate records across apps with Relations
- Define operating procedures to improve consistent processes using Checklists

Self-serve setup

- Get everyone up and running with in-app Tours for a guide through app features
- Control access to sensitive documents and applications with security Roles





Developer and non - developer friendly

- Customize apps, build from scratch and create the reports you need with a comprehensive rapid app developer toolset
- Rapid app development environment enabling execution in 1/20 the time of typical development
